PLANTERS BUILDING STATION SCOTT AND BIG PARTY FROZEN

Distributing Depot for Immigrant Laborers Has Been Started at Kakaako—Will Be More Elaborate Than Territory's Big Structure on Waterfront

At a cost of $27,000 the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association is erecting at Kakaako an immigration station that will throw the federal immigration station, not to mention the territorial one, into the shade for solidity, safety and sanitation. While it is mainly for the purpose of Philippine immigration, it will also, of course, be a distributing depot for European immigrants coming to take work on the sugar plantations.

Work has started on construction, on plans and specifications prepared by H. L. Kerr, architect, the Lord-Young Engineering Co. having the contract. It is to be of two stories of reinforced concrete, and not only thoroughly fireproof but absolutely washable from top to bottom, while the arrangement for ventilation could not be excelled.

On the ground floor there are separate arrangements for men and women, such as two kitchens and two dining rooms, together with separate dressing rooms, bathrooms and showers. A general waiting room, a hospital department, the general office and fumigating room are also on the ground floor, with special bathrooms besides for the office and hospital respectively. The ground dimensions are 88 feet by 104 feet.

From the ground floor to the second floor there is a main stairway, together with a smaller stairway on either side of the building, all the stairs being concrete. There are three sleeping rooms on the second floor. The main room has 176 cots for men. Another room with a capacity of eighty people is for married folk and their families. A third one, also with a capacity of eighty, is for single women and children.

The roof will have a large overhang with a three-foot space beneath it covered with wire mesh, providing, with ample window space, the utmost requirement of ventilation. There will be a total floor space in the building of 20,000 square feet. All of the floors, as well as the stairs already mentioned, will be of concrete, and this enameled, and with drains upon the floors the building can be completely washed out from top to bottom whenever necessary.

This building will supersede the wooden shed now used by the planters near the Inter-Island wharf. Its location is makai of Atkinson park, which it faces with the front looking mauka. It is upon land leased from the Bishop Estate for a long term.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY INDICTS WEALTHY BANKER

British Naval Captain and Fifty-one Scientists and Picked Men Overwhelmed in Terrible Blizzard—They Had Already Reached South Pole and Verified Amundsen's Discovery

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable, Associated Press Service)

OAMARU, New Zealand, Feb. 10.—Capt. Robert Scott, British Royal Navy, and fifty-one of the scientists and picked men who dared with him the dangers of the South Polar regions in a brave dash toward the pole, are lost, overwhelmed in a terrible blizzard.

This is the stunning report that came to Oamaru today when the Terra Nova, Captain Scott's ship, coming from the remote port of Cardiff on her return to civilization, signaled to this port that Capt. Scott and the men had perished in the blizzard on the South Polar continent.

Twenty-eight officers and scientists and twenty-three picked men from the British navy, according to the signals from the Terra Nova, were lost with Scott.

The same signals brought the information that Capt. Scott had reached the South Pole at a date not given, but a few days after Capt. Amundsen of the Norwegian expedition had reached the goal toward which both were racing. Scott found Amundsen's hut and records. By his own statements he confirmed the report of Amundsen's prior discovery.

The last message of the British explorer was delivered on March 31, 1912, to the captain of the Terra Nova. It read:

"I am remaining another winter to complete my work."

MUST WAIT FOR MORE DETAILS OF SCOTT'S END

(Associated Press Cable)
LONDON, Feb. 10.—The most profound grief is felt here over the report of the death of Captain Scott and his men. The whole city is in mourning, and the government is making every effort to gain some additional details. It is believed here, however, that this last will be impossible until the Terra Nova reaches Littleton, New Zealand, which she will probably do Thursday.

MR. CLEVELAND'S WIDOW WEDS AGAIN

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 10.—Mrs. Cleveland, widow of ex-President Grover Cleveland, was married here today to Thomas Jex Preston, one of the professors of Princeton University. The affair was very quiet, and no announcements of the date were sent out, as both Mrs. Cleveland and Professor Preston desired to preserve as much privacy as possible. The children of the ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland were present at the ceremony.

CLAUDINE IN TROUBLE SAYS DAME RUMOR

"Ever since the outbreak of trouble between the Inter-Island company and the captains I have made it a point to visit the docks every afternoon and argue with the sailors there whom I know, and not to strike. This strike of the captains is none of their affair. They have no reason to quit, and I should hate to see the sailors leave a good berth without reason. The statement made by Mr. Ashford, that I have been on the payroll of the Inter-Island company since I have been in office is untrue. I have kept out of the strike except to talk to my friends among the sailors, and this I did because of the aloha I have for the company and for them. When the special committee of the captains came to me last week I refused to have anything to do with them and told them that I could not help them. That is all."

Statement of Mayor Fern this morning.

Two events of the last forty-eight hours have put the members of the masters' and mates' harbor in high spirits. The first of these was the report of a crew of the Inter-Island steamer Claudine, to the effect that the vessel had struck on the reef at the entrance of the harbor of Kahului, and after wriggling about for a time

SECOND INFANTRY MAY RETURN TO SCHOFIELD LATEST RUMOR

Objects of General Staff in Army Re-organization Plan Are to Have Brigades at One Post Whenever Possible—Fort Shafter for Engineer, Signal and Sanitary Troops

Will the Second Infantry, just established at Fort Shafter, be hustled back to Schofield Barracks and housed under canvas?

This contingency doesn't sound very probable, but in the light of recent military changes here it is possible, and the mere chance of it has set officers and men of that regiment to worrying. To be turned out of a roomy cantonment, brought to another station, and doubled up in a one-battalion post, with one-third of the

MRS. SCOTT SAILS TO MEET HER HUSBAND

Somewhere out in the middle of the Pacific ocean, between San Francisco and New Zealand is Mrs. Robert Scott and her son, wife and child of the Antarctic explorer, reported dead. Mother and boy are sailing on the steamer Aorangi to meet husband and father, whom they have not seen since June, 1910, when he sailed from London on his last trip into the southern wastes. Mrs. Scott left San Francisco Feb. 5, on the steamer Aorangi, according to a cable from the Associated Press in that city, received by the Star-Bulletin this morning. The big news-gathering organization has been trying to get in touch with the wife of the explorer and turned the wireless service of Honolulu upside down this morning in the effort, but so far without result.

TOKIO MOB SETS CARS AFIRE

Prime Minister Daunted by Crisis Forced to Tender His Resignation and That of His Entire Cabinet—Emperor Takes Firm Stand, Threatening the Turbulent City with Martial Law Unless Troubles Stop

(Associated Press Cable)

TOKIO, Japan, Feb. 10.—The constitutional crisis reached a climax today in a series of riots that resulted in the resignation of the Katsura ministry, and wound up in the prime minister himself, as he descended the steps of the palace, and the threat on the part of the Emperor that unless the rioting and disturbances came to an abrupt end he would declare the city in a state of siege.

The rioting began last night, but did not assume violent proportions until early this morning, when a mob of several thousand strong began overturning street cars on the Ginza and setting fire to them. A great heap of burning cars was piled upon the bridge near the Shimbashi station and for hours held up all traffic into the city via the main street. It was not until troops from the barracks near the palace arrived that order was restored there, only to disappear in a swirling vortex of insane humanity as soon as the soldiers were withdrawn. The police are utterly unable to cope with the situation.

One of the commanders of a police station just off the Ginza, attempted to quell this rioting with a regiment of his men, but was assaulted and driven out of the neighborhood and his station wrecked. The mob spread and attacked other stations, which finally had to be guarded by troops to insure their safety.

Shortly before noon the word reached the rioters that Premier Katsura had tendered his resignation and that of the other members of the administration, to the emperor. The started shouting Japanese students from the Imperial university and thousands of others in a rush toward the palace. By the time the Premier was seen coming out of the gates a mob several thousand strong was awaiting him. He refused to alight, and was about to enter his automobile when one threw a stone. Instantly a volley of rocks began flying, practically ruining the machine and driving the premier himself to seek safety in the palace gates. Even then the mob continued to hurl stones at the gates and to shout insults at the vanished minister. His majesty, who has been informed of the conditions, issued a proclamation, in which he declared that if the disturbances continued he would be forced to declare the city in a state of siege. This, it is believed, will have the desired effect, and that now that Katsura has resigned, quiet will return.

MONTENEGRINS SEIZE KEY TO BESIEGED TOWN

PODGORITZA, Feb. 10.—The Montenegrins today, under the personal command of King Nicholas attacked and after a desperate fight managed to capture Bardon Joll Hill, from which point their guns command the entire city of Scutari. More than 2500 men were killed outright in the assault, which was probably the most desperate of the entire war, and more than 4000 were wounded. The loss of the Turks was probably less, but is said to have amounted to more than 2000 killed and 3500 wounded.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 10.—The war office here today confirms the report of the rout of the Turks after heavy fighting at Bulair, Saturday, about which some doubts had been expressed. It is now stated that the Ottoman retreated in disorder, leaving his guns and colors behind him and more than 2000 dead and seriously wounded. In all more than twenty line officers are reported to have been among the Turkish killed. The loss of the Bulgarians is reported as "insignificant."

force would be Vera Cruz. The cabinet, it is understood, decided that for the present at least the policy of the government will be a waiting one, and that this would be adhered to unless action to protect American life or property became imperative.

TO RUSH SHIPS TO MEXICAN PORTS

(Associated Press Cable)

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Feb. 10.—Under the leadership of Generals Angeles, Blanquet and Huerta, all adherents of Madero, a large force of loyal troops is reported just outside the city and ready to open the bombardment of the arsenal, where Felix Dias, nephew of the old president and dictator of Mexico, is entrenched.

President Madero, whose whereabouts for a time was unknown, and about whom vague reports that he had disappeared were circulated today, reappeared in the palace this afternoon, and issued a statement in which he declared that he had been in touch with his officers and was confident that the government would be in control of affairs again within twenty-four hours.

A new element was added to the troubled situation this afternoon when armed troops of the Zapatista forces entered the city from the south and announced their fealty to Gen. Diaz. It is evident that the Zapatistas and Diaz have reached an agreement and will fight Madero together.

WASHINGTON SENDS SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Late this afternoon it was decided to rush two battleships to Vera Cruz and Tampico, and send lesser ships to Mazatlan and Acapulco. Secretary Knox issued a statement in which he said that the ships will go merely for purposes of "unbiased observation". Although the cabinet at an extra session held this morning decided that no steps will be taken to intervene in the troubles now raging in Mexico, it was learned that the general staff of the army has made all necessary preparations to concentrate 15,000 men on the frontier should developments require it. It is understood that the objective point of such a
